

New York, Oct. 23.
The steam propeller, City of Glasgow, arrived this morning from Glasgow, Oct. 5th. She brings no passengers, and sails hence for Liverpool, when she will take her place as the first of the line of packets between that city and Philadelphia, to sail in the beginning of December.
Cunard steamer Europa, sails at noon to-day with 70 passengers and $480,000 in specie. Among her passengers is Louis Berg, vice consul of France, and bearer of despatches.
U. S. Mail steamship Ohio arrived at 10 o'clock last night, from New Orleans and Havana. Left Havana on the 18th, and experienced very severe weather during the passage. She brings 200 passengers and the mails from California; also a full cargo of tobacco and cigars from Havana. Considerable amount of gold in the hands of the passengers.

Another Murder.—Temperance Demonstration.
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.
A man named James Groves, perpetrated an atrocious murder, yesterday afternoon, upon a young Irish girl, aged about 20, who sold apples upon the wharves. Groves keeps a cattery stand at the foot of Chestnut street, where the girl was talking with him, when he picked up a knife and stabbed her. She tottered a few steps, fell and died.

The murderer was immediately arrested and at the hearing this afternoon was committed to answer the charge of murder in the first degree. The cause which led to the outrage is not known.
The Cadets of Temperance had a splendid parade. About 2000, divided into 30 sections, were in the procession. The principal feature was a chariot drawn by six white horses, in which rode 31 young girls dressed in white, representing the 31 States of the Union. Each of them bore a small white banner, on which was inscribed the name of the State represented.

Another feature was a mounted youth dressed in black velvet, bearing a banner surmounted by a liberty cap, which bore the inscription—All's well when daddy's sober!
Another device was a sweetly dressed little boy, seated upon a miniature chair, in a truck, to which was attached two horses. The truck supported a banner surmounted by a liberty cap, which bore the inscription—All's well when daddy's sober!

The parade was embellished by bands of music.

Hemp Growing in Ohio.

We understand that the success of Messrs. J. T. Crook & Co., of Mayville, Ky., in manufacturing hemp without rotting, holds out a fair promise to Ohio as well as the now hemp-growing States. Their improvements remove all the obstacle to the growing of hemp in the free States, so that it may yet be one of the greatest staples of Ohio, as it now is of Kentucky and Missouri. By the common process, the crop of one year cannot be brought into market until the next. The crop harvested last August will come into market next spring and summer. That we now have in our market is the growth of 1849. By the new mode, the hemp is hauled in the straw, unrotted and unbroken, to the manufactory, and sold in this condition the same season in which it is grown. Hence, those who have small farms and who are not able to hold on to their crops until the next year, nor able to keep a house full of extra hands all winter to break it out, can now grow the article and get a good-paying price for it the same season, as they do with their other crops. Hemp is as easily grown as oats. It does not impoverish the soil, and can be grown upon the same land for five years, or even more, without materially injuring the land. It is sown in April and May, (about a bushel and a peck of the seed to the acre,) and cut with a hay-hook, or ordle. It is a remarkably sure crop, subject to no disease; and generally only liable to injury by drought, before it has grown sufficiently to cover the ground. Hemp seed can be grown for 90c per bushel, though it is usually worth from $1 to $1.50. We observe that the rope made of the unrotted hemp, and kyanized, as is done by the Mayville company, is taking the preference of other kinds of hemp rope in the market, both tarred and untarred, and by many is preferred to Manila for out-door purposes, it not being liable to decay from exposure to weather. We trust that factories for manufacturing rope, bagging, &c., from unrotted hemp, may be established in this State, that our farmers may have a chance with others at this very profitable crop—one which commands now in Kentucky from $20 to $30 an acre in the unrotted state, and which can be grown for less than $10.

We look to this new enterprise as promising much ere long to the manufacturing and agricultural interests of the whole country.—Cin. Commercial.

DIED.

On the 18th inst., at his residence near Burlington, Ohio, of Pulmonary Consumption, WYATT C. WHEELER, late editor and publisher of the "Lawrence County Gazette."—Fronton Register.

The deceased was very well known to many of our citizens, having been born and partly bred here. He, in company with Mr. Droutland, established the Portsmouth Clipper, in 1845, and in the fall of the same year he issued the first number of the "Lawrence County Gazette," the publication of which he was obliged to suspend on account of ill health.

We deeply sympathize with his bereaved family in their heavy affliction.

Review of the Portsmouth Market, for the week ending, Oct. 23, 1850.
GENERAL REMARKS.—Our remarks of last week went to show that the trade of the week preceding was rather dull, and the same is noticed as to the week now ending. By particular inquiry among our business houses, we find that their customers from the country are holding back their indebtedness, urging as a reason that the farmers do not pay them, promptly, on account of the low price of wheat. There is large quantity of wheat arriving, and we may reasonably expect an improvement both in trade and collections soon.

Currency is accumulating both on deposit and for exchange at the offices of our Brokers and the Bank. There is much inquiry for Gold, by emigrants going west, it sells at 1 to one cent. as in quantity. We call the attention of our readers to the following transactions of our markets:

FLOUR & GRAIN.—The inquiry for flour has been good through the week, and the regular prices of last week have been adhered to. We continue our quotations at $3.60 in lots. Wheat is coming in freely by wagons from Jackson, and for prime parcels the millers are paying 70c. There is no prospect of advance for the present. The price of flour in New Orleans is but little above our own market. Oats come in but slowly. 30c from wagons and 35c from store appears to be the average sales. In Corn no transactions are reported.

COFFEE.—There is less firmness in the market among holders of coffee though the stock is small. We reduce our figure 1c. per lb., and quote 12 1/2 a 13 as current rates.

SUGAR & MOLASSES.—We notice an advance of one cent per gallon in Molasses with limited sales. Sugar remains at last quotations. Molasses 35c in lots.

CHEESE.—A sale to a flat boat for the coasting trade was made at 6 1/2 cents.

WHISKY.—A rise in the river enabling holders to ship to foreign markets, has advanced the prices slightly over last weeks rates. We quote 21 and 22c as the lowest rates in lots.

FEATHERS.—A sale for shipment at 28 cents. At retail, small parcels bring 30 cents per lb.

DRIED FRUITS.—Are coming in freely. Dried Peaches bring 75c to $1, as in quality, and Dried Apples 37 1/2 per bushel.

CHESTNUTS.—An avalanche of Chestnuts has rolled in among us lately, and a good article commands $1.25 per bushel.

SALT.—We notice sales of salt at 32 cts. in the retail way. New York is held at 22 retail.

OTHER ARTICLES.—There is but little change in other articles and we omit quotations.

We append for the satisfaction of our readers the following table of standard weights of grain as regulated by the laws of Ohio:

Let the Afflicted Read!

The principle of disease, like that of the principle of life, is alike incomprehensible to mankind. We only are able to point out what will weaken the one or give strength to the other. The value of the Brandreth Pills depends upon their wonderful power in strengthening the principle of life, and weakening the principle of disease, and finally expelling it from the body. Let us consider the subject carefully: would disease affect us if our blood were pure? Then, in proportion that Brandreth's Pills purify the blood, they tend to restore health. The very action upon the system which Brandreth Pills possess, convinces all who use them that they remove only the impure humors. For if they took any of the healthy fluids from the body, it would be weakened. But the contrary is the case. The body becomes stronger every day, from the use of the Brandreth Pills, as is known by the experience of tens of thousands of our citizens.

Where is the man of sense, whose mind is unperplexed, who, from the infectious small after death, would not say, would this body have been benefited of life, had perturbation been prevented?—are men born to be sick, and the lower animals live their full extent, and man only prematurely perish? Let us follow nature—let us cleanse the blood from impurities, and we shall live to the full extent of the oil in our lamp of life.

But continued purging will wear out the body—some otherwise sensible people affirm, that it is like wearing out the kettle by dint of rubbing. Does, then, rust preserve metallic substances? It would be admitting that impurities in the blood, preserve it in a healthy condition. We know better. We know that the result of an impure state of the blood is to occasion salt rheum, erysipelas, weakness, general debility, pains in the breast, back and side; also, fits, palsy, dyspepsia; in fact, wherever the impurity finds a weak portion of body, there it produces pain and disease.

I have known many persons purged twenty and thirty days in succession, and the result is always successful; in every instance, the most remarkable improvement took place. I remember one person, who I know had worms, from his peculiar symptoms; he persevered for forty days; every day for the forty days, no appearance of worms was seen, but after that time he voided great numbers, some of extraordinary size. What effect would have resulted from three or four days' purging? He would have become of him, if he had not been purged to a radical cure? It would be impossible to show the benefit to be derived from a proper perseverance with the Brandreth Pills in these limits. They must be used to be sufficiently appreciated.
